Jack Roots

Sydney-based bush techno and minimal techno producer known for hypnotic Australian soundscapes and infectious groove.

Biography

Jack Roots is an Australian electronic music producer and DJ from Sydney, celebrated for his soulful deep house and bush techno sound. With a career spanning over a decade, Jack Roots has become a staple in Sydney's vibrant electronic music scene and the broader Australian doof culture. Known for blending lush melodies with infectious rhythms and organic Australian soundscapes, his productions feature carefully curated hypnotic grooves that energize dance floors. Jack Roots is a resident at Puzzles Records and has released on respected labels including AlpaKa MuziK, Puzzles, and DistroKid. His tracks like "Waratah," "Kookaburra," and "Magpie" showcase his signature bush techno aesthetic, drawing inspiration from Australian wildlife and landscapes. He has shared lineups with influential artists including Bryan Ro, JNTN, and Michael Scheppert, and frequently performs at popular Sydney venues and local festivals. Jack Roots studied music production at Ableton Live School and has been producing music professionally since 2014 with Goonsquad.
